BROAD FOUNDATION OF RACING FOUND HERE

By J. W. MARCHBANK

My years devoted to building up the racing game in California are having exactly the result I anticipated. The sport itself, and its concomitant, the breeding of the highest type of thoroughbred, are flourishing and naturally my heart is overflowing with joy.

Last Saturday at Tanforan a large crowd had thrills a-plenty in witnessing the running of the well balanced card of eight events and tomorrow even a greater attendance is likely to be on hand. Each afternoon of the week (excepting Monday) fans motor to the course and on all sides expressions of delight are heard; my plans are working out even better than the most hopeful had foreseen.

The Alameda County Handicap had its renewal last Saturday and tomorrow the Golden Gate Bridge Handicap will bring out the best of the mature division. The Alameda County was for the baby racers, now getting well along toward their three year old birthday. As the name "handicap" indicates, weights are assigned in such a way that, theoretically, all the contestants should come down to the imaginary wire head and head. By the very difference in the burdens carried, however, the race run under handicap conditions does not prove much; shift the weights a bit and probably the result would be much different.

While my filly, Maid of Perth, was finishing back of Margaret O'Neil and two others at Tanforan, Discovery was being beaten at Laurel. The "Maid" failed to win with 122 pounds on her back and Discovery with 138 pounds. Each was attempting to concede chunks of weight and the task was too much. For example, my racer had three pounds over the scale and the winner eleven pounds less; Discovery toted twelve pounds over the scale and Firethorn, the victor, one pound less. So you see Maid of Perth was at one pound more of a disadvantage than even the mighty Discovery.

That's only by way of explanation; it will be recalled that in the Lassie Stakes, a weight for age affair, with each starter carrying 119 pounds, Maid of Perth was an easy victor. But we can't have weight for age events all the time. Handicaps were invented to make a stirring contest between superior and inferior performers.

Margaret O'Neil, a daughter of the War Cry mare Covering, is of more than passing interest to me, as her maternal grandsire has been in my possession for a number of years. A son of the Epsom Derby winner, Sunstar, and of quality as well on the distaff side, War Cry is good enough for any man's nursery.

COUNCIL MOVES FOR REPEAL OF MOOT "BINGO" ORDINANCE

City Attorney Instructed To Prepare New Ordinance Accomplish Abrogation

All members answered present at Monday evening's meeting of the Daly City Council.

A communication from the P. G. & E. requested to allow installation of pipe connection at Junipero Serra boulevard, south of Westlake avenue. Referred to city engineer and planning committee.

The American Indemnity Company requested notice of termination of its liability on bond issued to the Union Paving Company during the Mission street widening. The firm was instructed to get in touch with Mrs. Wood of Parkview avenue, who claims in a letter her property had been damaged by blasting while this work was in progress.

A letter from J. L. Brown stated he was under no misunderstanding when he signed the petition in protest to the "Bingo" ordinance and permit. He said he is emphatically opposed to that kind of "petty gambling" (he called it "Keeno").

A letter from the Jefferson Union High School P. T. A. also was in protest against "Bingo". Letters filed.

Mrs. Adele C. Ruttger protested against dumping of garbage and rubbish on lots on Hillcrest drive. Referred to Chief of Police Doyle.

The city attorney informed the council that no refund could be made of portion of license fee issued to the United Milk Company.

A letter from the citizens committee asked for police assistance during ground breaking exercises for the the Livestock Exposition Building at Bayshore on next Sunday morning, November 3, at 11 o'clock. Referred to Chief Doyle.

JOE E. BROWN IS COMING TO TOWN IN FUNNIEST FILM

Comedy Romance Is Most Hilarious Production Of His Career

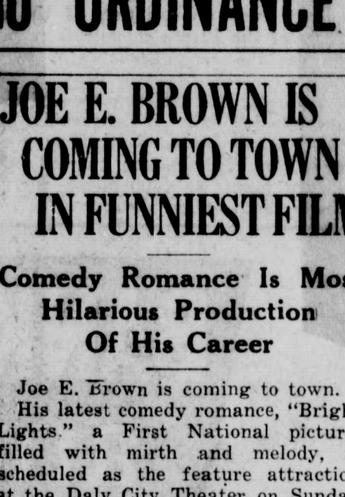
Joe E. Brown is coming to town.

His latest comedy romance, "Bright Lights," a First National picture, filled with mirth and melody, is scheduled as the feature attraction at the Daly City Theater on Sunday and Monday, November 3 and 4.

The production is a hilarious comedy of "back stage" with songs coming in naturally as part of the action of a theatrical troupe.

Scores of beautiful chorus girls appear in tuneful and fascinating dance and song numbers.

The story by Lois Leeson centers about Joe, a hoofer and comic in a burlesque show, whose stage partner is his wife, Ann Dvorak, Patricia Ellis, a mad cap heiress, gets a job in the burlesque show as an adventure.



William Gargan, publicity manager for a big Broadway producer, recognizes her, and engages her to play on Broadway. He also is taken with Joe's act and signs him for many times the salary he is getting.

Ann is shut out in the cold, and goes back to her old vaudeville job. How Patricia took Joe for a ride and how it works out to a reconciliation with Ann forms the plot around which the action develops to a new and surprising climax.

Joe E. Brown is supported by Ann Dvorak, Patricia Ellis, William Gargan, Joseph Cawthorn, Henry O'Neill and others.

The other attraction is "Welcome Home," with James Dunn and Arline Judge.

REPORT TREAT AT VISIT TO EXPO IN SOUTHLAND

Queen Ruth Lindorff And District Members of Court Royally Entertained

San Diego opened its arms to San Mateo County's Fiesta queens at the California Pacific International Exposition, Saturday and Sunday, October 26 and 27.

Chaperoned by Mrs. V. Widenman and personally conducted by William C. McCarthy, Director of Publicity for San Mateo County, the eight county beauties, who constituted the royal court at the recent Fiesta arrived in San Diego Saturday morning. They were officially greeted by Thomas Thienes, manager of the Central Coast exhibit at the Exposition and his daughter, Miss Gerry Thienes who is "Miss General Manager" of the exposition.

From that moment on the San Mateo maids were the center of attraction in the exposition city.

Rushed to El Cortez Hotel from their special Pullman they enjoyed a luncheon, following which they were taken by automobile to the exposition grounds, where they were scheduled to be the principal figures of San Mateo County Day.

President Frank Belcher of the exposition, extended an official greeting and Mr. McCarthy responded in behalf of the county and the Floral and Products Fiesta.

Official photographers were on hand and took more than twenty pictures of the girls, for national distribution through the various news channels.

During the day the county queens were entertained at the exposition with officials of the big show acting as hosts and in the evening they were guests of honor at a gay dinner dance at El Cortez.

Their escorts were nine of the most eligible young bachelors of San Di-

AUTO SHOW IS SCHEDULED FOR ORIGINAL DATE

More New Models To Be Displayed Than At Any Previous Exhibit

San Francisco is going to have its great annual Auto Show after all!

Dates from November 2 to 9, inclusive.

That was the announcement made yesterday by Don Gilmore, President of the Motor Car Dealer Association following the settlement of the Auto Mechanics strike which caused a cancellation of the twentieth annual Pacific Show.

Gilmore said that labor leaders had pledged their assistance in making this forthcoming show the greatest in the long list of successful exhibits which have preceeded it.

George Wahlgreen, veteran show manager plans a day and night schedule of work in the few days remaining before the scheduled opening date of the show in an effort to line up entertainment and arrange decorative effects in the large San Francisco Civic Auditorium where the show is scheduled to open Saturday, November 2.

The dealer auto show committee which is headed by Le Roy Spencer, manager for Earle C. Anthony, Inc., is active with the dealers and the eastern factories in rearranging for special shipments of show cars from Detroit and New York.

Orders for these cars had been cancelled and many of the special show jobs and show chassis exhibits will now have to come to the west coast by Express in order to be here in time for the opening of the display.

Automobile men declare that this years automobile show will have more new models on display than any previous exhibits due to the fact that all models this year are being introduced concurrently with the November show dates.

WE NEED FOUR YEARS MORE OF ROOSEVELT

By J. W. MARCHBANK
Pioneer in Frontier Mining Work

In order to complete the great work he undertook when going into the White House, it is fast becoming the consensus of opinion among the best thinkers that the President should be returned to his high office for another four years. Everyone knows recovery is well on its way and furthermore that it is of the utmost importance the same skipper should be kept at the helm of the ship of state.

Criticism by the disgruntled who are merely trying to "get even" with the chief executive for taking away some of their privileges is not making any headway. The final decision is with the electors of the country, and as Lord Bryce, an acknowledged authority on American affairs, said some time ago, the hope of civilization is on that very expression of the wishes of the people at the polls, under a democratic government such as that of the United States.

General Hugh S. Johnson, former NRA administrator is a forthright critic of some of the policies of the President, but he sees nothing but chaos would result if the reins were given once more to the enemies of Roosevelt, and consequently is a firm supporter of the President. Johnson's is the kind of criticism that is welcome it is constructive and helps in avoiding pitfalls that otherwise might be disastrous. Johnson sees the number of the unemployed reduced by millions, but wonders if unemployment can be wiped out altogether. That is the problem the best minds are working on now. The President and his advisers have made a start in the right direction and there is utterly no reason for stopping them. It takes time to build from the ground up and that is what the president is doing. The former administration did not even leave any plans for constructing a new social set-up; all it bequeathed was a mass of ruins and ill-assorted ideas.

"Charley" Michelson, well known here as a newspaperman, is showing up the animosity back of attacks on President Roosevelt by former supporters. He accuses John J. Raskob and Jouett Shouse of conducting a "Smear Roosevelt" campaign at present, just as they conducted a "Smear Hoover" campaign in 1932. Raskob was chairman and financial angel of the Democratic National Committee and Shouse executive director three years ago. Now they are prominent in the so-called American Liberty League, an anti-Roosevelt organization.

A recent speech by former President Hoover in Oakland has been interpreted as a bid for the Republican nomination next year and, in regard to that, Michelson says:

"It will be interesting to watch the Liberty League's reaction to the Hoover candidacy. The Liberty League consists largely of Jouett Shouse, and a little in the background, John Raskob. They are two of the ablest journeymen in the political machine shop.

"Six years ago they undertook the rehabilitation of the Democratic party. Nobody can ever say they did not do a first-class job. They put the party on its feet again; they unhorsed Mr. Hoover. The Democratic convention of 1932 did not eventuate according to their hopes and plans. Now Messrs. Raskob and Shouse find themselves in the same boat with the dismounted Hoover; with the same objective, the breaking down of Franklin Roosevelt's popularity. It may appear a strange fellowship, but that is how things go in politics.

The way the wind is blowing is indicated by the overwhelming victory of the Liberals in Canada. There is no vital difference between the principles of the forward-looking citizens of Canada and of the United States and any time the Liberals are winners in the country to our north it is easy enough to predict the almost identical ideas will be triumphant with our own boundaries.

DALY CITY AGAIN TO SEE RETURN TO NORMAL DECENCY

Despite veiled threats and bellowed shouts of "You can't do that," vehemently made by the self styled promoter-manager of the proposed "Bingo parlor" in Daly City the game failed of fruition.

The Record is pleased to note that all members of the city council were in accord in heeding the protests of citizens against such an unholy alliance to establish this penny ante institution here, and moved to repeal the obnoxious "Bingo" ordinance.

We think this the correct attitude for our city officials to take in order that in future there will be no further steps instituteed to violate the sanctity of our homes and so we may retain normal decency in our community.

DEMANDS REASON FOR NONPAYMENT

On Monday, Supervisor Al Witt of First Township demanded the reason why ten thousand dollars promised towards the purchase of the Sunnyvale navy air base had not been paid. The ten thousand dollars in question is a portion of the fifty thousand dollars pledged by San Mateo County towards the purchase of the site.

Deputy County Comptroller Filbert stated that he had been instructed by County Comptroller Edward Stack to hold up payment of this money pending determination of who is to get it. The San Francisco Chamber of Commerce has requested the money, but the county comptroller has indicated he is not satisfied with their claim. and will insist they present definite proof of their right to the money.

THANKS EDITORS

Miss Ruth Lindorff wishes to thank the Daly City Record for the beautiful corsage of orchids presented her by her dear friends, Mr. and Mrs. Pitschke at the Burlingame station before leaving on her trip to San Diego.

YOUNGSTER RAN SPARKLING RACE IN HANDICAP

More Juvenile Sprints Being Arranged For Future At Tanforan

Margaret O'Neil today occupies the western juvenile throne following her smashing victory last Saturday at Tanforan in the Alameda County Handicap for 2 year olds at six furlongs. This flashy youngster ran a sparkling race, but she was in receipt of weight concessions from several members of the field—notably Maid of Perth and Calaveras. There remains a question in the minds of many turf observers whether this new claimant of juvenile honors can hold her own at level weights with the erstwhile queen of the fillies—Maid of Perth—and the champion colt—Calaveras.

However, going back in the "dope," one finds that Margaret O'Neil evidenced her class last winter at Santa Anita, where one race stamped her as a filly of real quality when she trounced Harrogate, Calaveras and other good ones. Until her victory in the Alameda County Handicap, she had not run back to that single good race.

Racing Secretary Webb A. Everett is planning several more juvenile handicaps before the season ends, November 11, and race goers are waiting with interest the next appearance of Margaret O'Neil.

The faculty committee consists of Mr. Greene and Mr. Gray. The student committee consists of Doris De Vicenzi, Oliver Granucci, Eleanor Hutchings, Augustin Pedemonte, Harry Prongas, and Rita Sadler.

A. H. SAGEHORN NEW TREASURER OF OUR COUNTY

The Board of County Supervisors on Monday, unamiously concurred in the recommendation of County Executive Kellogg and A. H. Sagehorn former manager of the Bank of America, Broadway branch, was named treasuerer of San Mateo County to succeed Harry E. Jenkins, who resigned last week after failure to obtain the $100,000 bond under the law for that office.

It was thought by many that Jenkins, who was elected county treasurer in 1920, would receive the appointment of deputy, but nothing definite in that respect has as yet been forthcoming in official circles.

ego. The dancing continued until the early hours Sunday morning.

Following a brief, though much needed rest, the San Mateo Queens breakfasted and once more were whisked to the Exposition grounds where they again faced a battery of cameras.

Sunday was spent in visiting the Exposition's exhibits and points of interest about San Diego. A farewell banquet at El Cortez Hotel Sunday evening marked the windup of the excursion, following which the group entrtained for the homeward trip. They arrived at Burlingame at noon Monday.

Those in the party, besides Mrs. V. Widenmann and Mr. McCarthy included Ruth Lindorff, Daly City; Virginia Saeger, Burlingame; Barbara Hardy, South San Francisco; Irene Williams, San Mateo; Irene Torre, Half Moon Bay; Bertha Bergman; Redwood City; Adeline DeWolfe, San Carlos; and Alyce Cross, East Palo Alto.

SCOTT REMOVAL IS URGED BY GRAND JURY OF COUNTY

Representatives of the San Mateo County grand jury appeared before the Board of Supervisors on Monday, in Redwood City, and recommended the removal of County Engineer Carl R. Scott.

Supervisor Al Witt, immediately after the announcement relative to Scott was made, nominated Joseph J. Bullock. prominent Redwood City attorney, to act as special counsel for the supervisors in the preparation and prosecution of charges against the acting county engineer. The nomination carried by a three to two vote. It is probable that on Monday next, Bullock will have his case completed when the matter of the acting engineer's suspension comes before the Board of Supervisors. It will require four votes to suspend Engineer Scott and there is much speculation among officials and others throughout the county interested in the engineer fight as to whether Supervisor Beer or Supervisor Poole will constitute the fourth member or whether both these officials will, as they have in the past, continue to uphold Scott in office.

JURY ENDORSES WPA COUNTY COORDINATOR

The San Mateo County grand jury held the creation of the position of WPA coordinator a fitting and important one, contending that it was important in the securing of WPA funds for the county, and approved Engineer W. W. Hendricks as capable of handling the work.

The jury recommended that Hendricks work out of the engineering department under a competent engineer to be selected by the board, with the suspension of Scott. The grand jury absolutely denied that this new job would be a needless expense to the county, and defended it as essential to insure jobs for the county's unemployed.

COUNTY DON'T WANT JUNIPERO BOULEVARD

The county board of supervisors on Monday refused to accept from the state the improved portion of the new Junipero Serra boulevard in First Township, as part of the county highway system. Lack of sufficient funds to maintain this highway was advanced for the refusal, coupled with a request that the state designate it as a secondary state highway and maintain it.

LEGION AUXILIARY COUNTY COUNCIL

"But at least I may take you to the station—see you on the train." He touched her arm to turn her toward the car, and she got in.

"Sister," said Hal, after he had started Rasputin into the traffic, "I have been a very great fool, and I have been near to being even a greater one. Now I see things clearly. Sister, I know who her husband is: I know he is evil. It doesn't matter how much I hate him nor how much I am ready to do to get her away from him. What matters is that whatever I do, I should be stronger and happier—for her, sister, and for myself—if you could tell me, as her friend and, I so much hope, mine too, that you also feel I must get her from him. It cannot be wicked to take evil from her life, no matter how it is done, can it? Even if she will not love me now, for the fool I've been and the wrong I've done, I know about that evil and, loving her, I cannot leave her with it, can I?"

Her eyes were on his—full of a frightened seriousness, a deeply fearful solicitude for what he had told her.

"Long ago," she said, "when I was a girl as young as she—"

The sound of her own voice, saying that, seemed gently to enforce her silence. Looking at him—her eyes large, inarticulate in hopefulness, touched too with some longing sorrow—she barely nodded, once, and then bravely said, "You should do something."

* * * * * * *

Hal burst into the room without knocking, hot for Kerrigan's word that Barry was at her hotel, that he could go straight to her now and humble himself irrevocably, before he went on to whatever else must be done in final swiftness. Kerrigan looked at him as if he didn't believe what he saw.

"She went by train," Hal told him quickly. "You called Barry. She's all right. I can—"

"I can't get her," Kerrigan said, "but she's been here. That envelope—she left it. I've been trying to think I ought to open it."

Hal snatched the envelope and tore it open, and fresh fear ran at his heart as his eyes began to follow the decisive lines.

"I shouldn't write, my darling, but I've got to. Being with you, loving you as I shall forever, has shown me my way out and given me strength to take it. When you get back from Santa Barbara, it will be done and there'll be no good in trying to stop me. You mustn't try. I shall be all right. I'm so tired of trying to decide what's good, what's best. I can't have you, but I can have myself—free of badness, to remember you and beauty. I can't let you go away thinking I don't love you.

"He will find out soon that you are Frederick Ireland's son. But there will be nothing left to show any connection between you and him. So when you see tomorrow's papers, you must keep quiet.

"I love you. I didn't know it would be so much. Darling, forgive me for what I've done to you. Barry."

And in postscript: "I don't mean suicide. You'll know that if I couldn't break my bargain for you, I couldn't at all. I'm going to end it."

Starting for the door, Hal yelled at Kerrigan: "She's going to kill him. Almighty G—d, Kerrigan! She's killing him now!"

In his terror, Hal still had time to be thankful for Kerrigan's agility in pursuit: Kerrigan was behind him, struggling into his coat as they hurried down the hall.

Hal's mind was frantic with: Smug, criminal ass, to think I could do this to her, that she'd wait for my rotten apology. Oh G—d, if you're there and you're good, stop her, stop her, stop her.

"Battle of Blenheim! drive like a white man," Kerrigan was saying, as second speed began to scream under them. "Get pinched or piled up and you're useless to her—useless."

"Kerrigan, if she's not there, you find Crack and stick to him like a thousand leeches," Hal said gently. "I'll find her if— G—d!"

A man, unheeding, darted from among the parked cars at the right. Hal jumped on Rasputin's loyal brakes and felt them drag gallantly at the speed, in a desperate squeal of rubber. Then there was a crumpling slam of impact behind, and Rasputin lunged forward slewing, drunkenly careened by savage force at the rear. As the rigid sedan tipped past the point of recovery, tearing and splintering at the body of a parked car alongside, Hal flung himself upon Kerrigan and fought to make him duck. Then Rasputin's solid side smashed upon solid pavement with an abrupt explosion of showering glass. And that was all, except for a small, single tinkling, like a distant key-ring, that diminished in whirls of darkness.

CHAPTER X

Midweek

Hal was heavily sick—lying in a bed—and heavily sad. His mouth was dry as cloth, and his lips stuck.

There was an impression of having dreamed lots of things, crowded close around him and very tiring because of their constant demand for effort. But he couldn't remember anything of what they were and it didn't matter. There were changes in him—changes of which he was aware abstractly. He had made mistakes he would never make again. There was ignorance washed away, and contempt and apathy; an oppression, an ominousness he had once known was lifted. The mistakes he had made were on the very lip of consciousness, but they stayed there, peacefully. They would come later: no hurry any more.

There was Barry to think of. It was very odd he hadn't remembered that he could think of her till now. Her image appeared quietly in his mind, walking toward him with that straight-legged, inquiring, unself-conscious grace, Doc at his cheerful trot beside her. Soon he would see her lovely face, her eyes lighted, smiling. It was good to see her walk because last time he'd thought of her—last time, she'd been sitting on the edge of a bed, knees clasped hard in her arms, her head bowed, her eyes—strange, sullen, dark with . . .

Suddenly, before he knew what it was, Hal yelled her name and struggled against the tight-tucked sheet across his chest; and a dreadful avalanche tumbled memory and terror upon his beguilement. He had an arm free before the nurse could get to him. He was breaking the nurse's hold when a young man, in white up to the neck, appeared on the other side and forced him back to the pillow.

"Listen," said Hal, commanding the attention of the man's blue eyes: "I'm not delirious; I'm not crazy. I know where I am: in a hospital in Los Angeles because of a motor accident. But you've got to let me up—right away. I'll come back afterward, but you've got to let me up. It's a matter of murder—murder—and I've got to stop it. You'll kill me if you keep me here. I swear to you I know what I'm saying. Look in my eyes. I'm sane—sane as h—l. You've got to believe it."

"Mr. Ireland!" the young man said sharply. "Listen to me." Then, slowly and significantly, "You've been here for over twenty-four hours."

Hal knew it was significant even as he wondered why it was said so significantly. Then most terribly he saw; his shoulders fell away from resistance and all his breath went out in a broken cry of anguish and despair. On a swift shadow of hope he said: "But Kerrigan—where's Kerrigan? The man who was with me in the car. Please, you've got to find out. You will find out—quickly, quickly, and let me know. And another thing." What was the other thing? Good G—d, he had to hold on till he thought of it—something terrible. Yes! "Another thing," he said, exhaustion consuming the breath he needed to talk with: "a newspaper—one of the morning after my accident. I've got to see it. I'll go crazy—raving—unless I know."

"Yes, all right," said the interne.

After a word to the nurse at the door, he was gone and Hal rolled his head miserably, but in a minute, a white jacket came between him and the wall, and a newspaper rustled. They held it over him while he searched the mess of the front page: headlines about Japan, divorce revelations, the picture of a woman in black in court; and beside that a single-column head reading, "Man Slain in S. M'ca Blvd. Hotel Room—Seek Woman Companion of Martin Crack, Promoter—Clutched Golf Ball Clew?"—Wheels of light spinning against blackness closed over the page, and their soft buzzing faded behind thick, deaf cushions at his ears.

* * * * * * *

Spears, a vice president of the Old Man's correspondent bank in Los Angeles, gave Hal attention and incurious understanding. He came on unsolicited orders from New York, when Hal was finished with the delirious phantoms of routed hope.

"You must make sure the agency has no connection with the police," Hal told him. "If it's necessary you can drop a hint that rewards from us will be bigger than any the police offer. The best of the detectives is to go after the Trafford girl, the other after Kerrigan, though it's just possible the girl and Kerrigan are together. I want Santa Barbara looked up first, and here's a note to the nun. The man's not to get tough with her under any circumstances: she'll tell him anything she knows when she sees that note. Kerrigan's man ought to check the hospitals first. I'm not sure this place did them thoroughly. Have you got it all straight?"

"Yes, Mr. Ireland," said Spears, with conviction.

Hal held out his hand and forced the sadness and fatigue out of his own smile. "Thanks a lot, Spears."

"Very glad of the chance to help," said Spears, as though he was. "And what about your father? Shall I tell him anything—except that you're coming along well and will drop him a line any day now?"

"Oh, yes," said Hal, and tried to think plainly about that too. "Tell him the guy who telegraphed him about me was a nut, that he had nothing on me, that the whole thing's put to bed. Tell him I'm writing him everything and there's absolutely nothing to worry about. Remind him that I never said that before."

Then Spears was gone, and the nurse came in to see that Hal was comfortable. He told her he was. Am too, he said to himself, except for shock, slight concussion, compound fracture of arm, cut head, contusions of hip, d—d smell of ether, and—Dear God, what were they to the bitter, steady, excruciating, and just punishment of his soul? What more hurts wouldn't he take to his body to keep the incredible events of his anguish unreal.

The events of his anguish had occurred: they seemed sometimes unreal because his fancy couldn't compass a scene of vicious melodrama between the figure of beauty he knew and loved and the figure of evil he knew and hated. In the black, burning chaos of his delirium he had seen Barry standing in a room like the one in Saint George; a black automatic pistol, level in her hand, jogged to its own sharp spitting; and Crack stood before her with his bemused smile, nodding sly approval as each invisible bullet punched into him but never even made him drop his indolent golf ball. That was unreal, fantastic even in delirium. And yet now, with the delirium behind—marking off his new loneliness from his old folly—Hal knew something like that had happened.

If his old, dread folly had created nothing but unending loneliness for himself, the pain of penalty would be a clean thing. His father had told him he needed to learn about life. He had learned something: he had learned that if you were a vain fool, life in one gesture could give you its lesson and snatch away your most happy chance to apply it, could mutilate you for good in teaching you to avoid mutilation. Did his father know that? Did Sister Anastasia know that? Had Kerrigan known that? Had Kerrigan—Chill fingers slipped newly about Hal's heart and he reached for his bell, holding down the button hard and long as he tried to hold down this refreshed agony of fear. When the nurse came, he told her: "Telephone Mr. Spears at the Bank of California Trust and tell him—tell him I say he may find out something—something we want to know at the morgue."

O G—d, if Kerrigan were dead!

* * * * * * *

The only hope that the next slow hours brought was that the morgue had yielded nothing. In the early evening, Spears came again to show him the "Personal" advertisement he had running, and to tell him that Sister Anastasia had no news.

Then there was another long, haunted night maturing its crop of torment to roll Hal's head on the hot pillow, and snatch him from fitful sleep. And finally another morning came, with a new solidity of hopeless conclusion. The one slim sliver of recurrent hope, sharp and so very fragile, was still that Kerrigan might be with Barry. And yet if Kerrigan was well and free, he would have come here to Hal, or written, or something.

Later Hal was dozing when he heard the nurse saying something that sounded like, "It's your sister to see you." And the name Anastasia leaped into his mind like a cool jet of water. He turned his head so quickly that pain ran deep in his arm. "Show her in right away."

"She's waiting downstairs," said the nurse. "She'll be up in a moment."

She knew something about Barry. Hal fought that hope for his fear of disappointment. Probably it was only that her brother could be left for a while and she—bless her dear, cool goodness—had come to comfort him.

The door opened softly, and there was an instant's whispering behind the screen before it closed again. Then, tense for the first look of Anastasia's white-framed face, Hal felt his blood's business stop, time stop, the day stop over the world outside. Even as he whispered her name in the hush of the room, he knew it couldn't be Barry. Yet the clear, blue-clad vision moved toward him, the clear eyes authentic in their solemn questioning of his look of awe. She came nearer, looked down at his mouth and into his eyes again, a hopeful tenderness waking in her solemnity. Then he caught her wrist. She bent swiftly down to him. His other wretched, useless arm wouldn't stir, but the good one was strong enough to bring her against him, his hand moving on rough, real cloth over the firmness of her back. If it were a dream, the pain he felt going through his tight-strapped arm must wake him. And it didn't. She stayed there, her skin smooth and cool, her breathing against him slow and grateful, as if in fearless sleep after long weariness

3RD OF FAMILIES CHILDLESS

One in every three married couples in the United States now is classed as childless by the census bureau at Washington. The last exact count was made in 1930, when the percentage of couples without children stood at 31.9. Estimates based on new studies place the present figure at more than 33 per cent. These estimates apply to so-called "normal" families. They do not include families broken by divorce or death. Of 23,352,000 American married couples in 1930, 7,447,328 couples had no children. Those couples having one child numbered 5,254,863, or 22.5 per cent. Those having two children each numbered, 4,246,459; three children each, 2,650,730, and four or more children, 3,753,610.—Capper's Weekly.

Lowest Prices Ever on Calumet Baking Powder!

"IT'S certainly good news that Calumet is selling at new low prices," Mrs. McIntosh says. "I do a lot of baking, and when I can get a full pound can of reliable Calumet for only 25c, I'm pretty pleased with myself!"

Her son Jack settles down to some of Mother's famous coffee cake, and pays for it with a big smile.

WHY IS CALUMET DIFFERENT from other baking powders? Why do you have to use only one level teaspoonful of Calumet to a cup of sifted flour in most recipes?

Because Calumet combines two distinct leavening actions. A quick action for the mixing bowl—set free by liquid. A slower action for the oven—set free by heat.

OLD GLORY GIRLS AUXILIARY CORPS INDUCT OFFICERS

Other News Of Interest To Members Of Post And Auxiliary

(By W. J. Lehigh)

On Friday evening of last week Old Glory had the pleasure of attending institution and installation of the Old Glory Auxiliary Girls Corps by the Auxiliary. It was a very impressive ceremony, followed by classic and comis dances by local talent.

The little president was absent owing to illness; however, she will preside at the next meeting.

Some short speeches were made by various members and all congratulated Old Glory and the girls on the manner in which the entire affair was conducted.

Any girl between ages of one day and sixteen years is eligible, provided her father or legal guardian is a Veteran of Foreign Wars or eligible thereto. Any such wishing to join this organization may give her name to any present member of Old Glory Auxiliary or the Junior Corps, boys or girls.

The annual Armistice Ball given by Daly City Veterans Organizations will be held Saturday evening, November 9, at the Daly City Hall Auditorium and also at Eagles Hall.

The ball will be preceded by a parade of military organizations. Tickets are now on sale. The music will be excellent.

A joint installation for Old Glory Post and its Auxiliary will take place November 8. Following are officers-elect for the Post for the coming year: Commander, M. V. Jensen; senior vice commander, J. C. Lewis; junior vice commander, B. Sendner; officer of the day, A. Albertus; chaplain, C. Ireton; quartermaster F. R. Linser; post advocate, R. F. Brulez; post surgeon, F. P. Callsen. These are our leaders for next year, and the entire post is behind them, as they devote so much of their time to the interests of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Don't forget, boys, the new meeting hall is to be "Little Italy Hall" on Mission street, opposite Daly City Theater. Come up and give the boys the once over. There are a lot of new members some of you old timers have never met.

The entertainment committee consists of Mary McLean, Rita Sadler and Eva Trautmann, while Olga Curusis, Lillian Cavagnera and Muriel Lewis have complete charge of the food.

After the business meeting a humorous monologue was given by Rita Sadler, which was followed with a recitation by Muriel Lewis.

The Golden Text will be: "Create in me a clean heart, O God; and renew a right spirit within me" (Ps. 51:10). Bible selections will include the following passages from Galatians 5:19, 21: "Now the works of the flesh are manifest, which are these; Adultery, fornication, uncleanness, lasciviousness, . . . Envyings, murders, drunkenness, revellings, and such like; of the which I tell you before, as I have also told you in time past, that they which do such things shall not inherit the kingdom of God."

FINE PITCHING SPELLS VICTORY

Daly City Tanforan At Best Behind Stellar Work Of Right Hander

(By Al Gould)

The Daly City Tanforans, at their best behind the brilliant pitching of Creighton Davies, who fanned eighteen batters and allowed but three scattered hits—there you have the story of the second game of the Recreation AA League.

"Lola" Petrocchi and Harry Maloney did the hitting that decided the game in the first inning. Petrocchi came to bat with the bases loaded and two out. When the smoke cleared after his line drive to deep center, Petrocchi was resting on third with three tallies across the plate. Musante promptly singled, scoring Petrocchi. Then the great Maloney connected for a home run to deep center, chasing Musante across the plate, making a total of six runs as a start.

Petrocchi, the first batter up in the third inning, again connected with one of Schultz's fast ones for a home run to deep left. Maloney singled after Musante went out. Davies hit a hot grounder at the pitcher and got credit for an infield hit. Then De Felippo singled to left, scoring Maloney and Davies.

Davies had a world of stuff, both on his curve and fast ball, and not infrequently he threw a change of pace that completely baffled the visitors.

Davies made no pitching mistakes but he might have worked too hard in his laudable ambition to pitch his team to victory. I never have seen a pitcher work so hard in the closing innings of a ball game—that is, when he had a twelve run lead, as Davies did. He put everything he had on every ball he threw.

Whether or not Davies' strenuous effort will take its toll from his arm remain to be seen. Anyway, this lad was thinking neither of his arm nor future games in the series in his successful desire to blank his opponents.

Read the play by play report of the great pitching of this Daly City lad.

FIRST INNING

Searles Buffet—Meade was hit by a pitched ball. Ongerth safe when Davies bungled his bunt. Nelson fanned. Tamalier fanned. Devinzini at bat; Meade stole third. Devinzini fanned. No hits, no runs, one error.

Daly City—De Felippo out, Meade to Tamalier. Carrasco singled to right center, and when the ball got away from Morten Carrasco went on to third. Vasquez was hit by a pitched ball. Palmini at bat; Vasquez stole second. Palmini walked, filling the bases. Volkman fanned. Petrocchi dorve one to center for a triple, scoring Carrasco, Vasquez and Palmini. Musante singled to center, scoring Petrocchi. Maloney lined one to deep center for a home run, chasing Musante across the plate ahead. Davies out, Tamalier unassisted. Four hits, six runs, one error.

SECOND INNING

Searles Buffet—Morten fanned. Favor fanned. Whooley doubled to right. Schultz at bat; Whooley stole third when Volkman threw low to Palmini. Schultz fanned. One hit, no runs, no errors.

Daly City—De Felippo out, Favor to Tamalier. Carrasco singled past second. Vasquez flied to Morten. Palmini at bat; Carrasco stole second and came home when Whooley threw wide to second. Palmini walked. Volkman at bat; Palmini stole second and went to third on Whooley's bad throw. Volkman fanned. One hit, one run, two errors.

THIRD INNING

Searles Buffet—Meade flied to Maloney. Ongerth walked. Nelson fanned. Tamalier walked. Devinzini singled to center, scoring Ongerth. Morten fanned. One hit, one run, no errors.

Daly City—Petrocchi lined a home run to deep left. Musante fanned. Maloney lined one at the pitcher which went for an infield hit. Davies lined one in the same place for a single, Maloney going to third. De Felippo singled to left, scoring Maloney and Davies. The latter went from first to score on a deep single. A good piece of base running. Carrasco was hit by a pitched ball. Vasquez hit into a double play, Favor to Meade to Tamalier. Four hits, three runs, no errors.

FOURTH INNING

Searles Buffet—Favor lined to Vasquez. Whooley fanned. Schultz fanned. No hits, no runs, no errors.

Daly City—Palmini tripled to left. Volkman fanned. Petrocchi walked. Musante out at first on a pretty sacrifice, Tamalier unassisted, Palmini scoring. Maloney singled to left, scoring Petrocchi. Davies doubled to center, scoring Maloney. De Felippo walked. Carrasco forced Davies at third, Nelson unassisted. Three hits, three runs, no errors.

FIFTH INNING

Searles Buffet—Meade walked. Ongerth fanned. Nelson fanned. Tamalier fanned. No hits, no runs, no errors.

Daly City—Vasquez walked. Palmini hit into a double play, Meade to Favor to Tamalier. Volkman fanned. No hits, no runs, no errors.

SIXTH INNING

REDUCED ELECTRIC RATES

TO OUR CUSTOMERS:

Pacific Gas and Electric Company is pleased to announce another reduction in electric rates amounting to approximately $4,000,000 per year.

Beginning with January bills lower rates will become effective for household electric service, for commercial lighting, and for power service for large commercial and industrial establishments.

Of the $4,000,000 represented by the reduction, $2,000,000 per year will go to domestic customers, $1,000,000 to commercial lighting customers, and $1,000,000 to power customers.

The top lighting rate in incorporated cities and towns is lowered from 4.5 cents to 4 cents per kilowatt hour, and the second block from 3.5 cents to 2.5 cents per kilowatt hour, both blocks being slightly lengthened. Domestic customers who use 60 kilowatt hours per month, which is the average domestic consumption, will benefit by a 10.7 per cent reduction. In rural districts the rates for both first and second blocks are reduced one-half cent per kilowatt hour, these blocks also being somewhat extended.

A year ago, when we offered a special inducement rate to encourage increased use of electricity, we said, "It is our hope and expectation that this offer will so stimulate the use of electricity as to justify a reduction in the regular schedules." This hope has been realized. There has been a gratifying increased use which has helped to make possible the present reduction.

Increased consumption, however, does not tell the whole story. During recent months we have substantially reduced bond interest charges. We have consolidated properties and lowered operating costs. We have put economies into effect in every department. These savings we are now passing along to our customers in lower rates.

We are counting, too, on better business conditions and these reduced rates to stimulate greater use of electricity.

We are making this reduction despite continued increases in taxes, well illustrated by the fact that in 1934 the company paid $1,146,000 more in taxes, federal, state, and local, than in the preceding year.

The trend of our rates is and always has been downward. Going back only eight years, the company in 1928 reduced its charges $2,418,900 per year. This was followed in 1930 by another reduction of $3,020,000 per year. This year customers will save $1,600,000 through the temporary inducement rate. The present reduction will save an additional $3,924,000 per year. These successive rate reductions will represent accumulated savings to our electric customers of $54,621,000 by the end of 1936.

These new rates will enable our customers to enjoy greater electric comforts and conveniences. We are especially gratified to be able to reduce the cost of electric service at this time when general costs of living are steadily rising.

Take Great Precautions With Diamond Workers

Before workmen are engaged in the De Beers mines at Kimberley they must sign a contract for four months, which can be prolonged. During this period the workers are prohibited from leaving the mining district and must live in compounds without their wives. When the wives visit them, conversation may take place only behind wire gratings. Native shops on the compound supply all necessities. At the expiration of the contracts, the workers are kept until a thorough examination has been made. Kept in cells for four days, their hair is shaved and many other precautions taken.

Find Out

From Your Doctor if the "Pain" Remedy You Take Is Safe.

Don't Entrust Your Own or Your Family's Well - Being to Unknown Preparations

BEFORE you take any preparation you don't know all about, for the relief of headaches; or the pains of rheumatism, neuritis or neuralgia, ask your doctor what he thinks about it — in comparison with Genuine Bayer Aspirin.

We say this because, before the discovery of Bayer Aspirin, most so-called "pain" remedies were advised against by physicians as being bad for the stomach; or, often, for the heart. And the discovery of Bayer Aspirin largely changed medical practice.

Countless thousands of people who have taken Bayer Aspirin year in and out without ill effect, have proved that the medical findings about its safety were correct.

Remember this: Genuine Bayer Aspirin is rated among the fastest methods yet discovered for the relief of headaches and all common pains . . . and safe for the average person to take regularly.

You can get real Bayer Aspirin at any drug store — simply by never asking for it by the name "aspirin" alone, but always saying BAYER ASPIRIN when you buy.

FORTUNES WAITING YOU

If all the hundreds of thousands who believe they are being illegally restrained from enjoying the benefits of ancient estates were suddenly to have their claims recognized, between five and six billions of dollars' worth of the most valuable property in the important cities of the world would change hands overnight! For, according to these claimants, some of the biggest skyscrapers are but squatters on their property. Involved prominently in their calculations are such well-known landmarks as Central park, the Post Office building, the Empire State building and most of Wall Street in New York city; the site of San Francisco; the chief street of Birmingham, Ala.; the main stem of Wilmington, Del.; and the business sections of both Baltimore and Philadelphia. Nearly all claims of this kind have been declared invalid by the courts, but the heirs still refuse to lose hope.—Mary Margaret McBride in Cosmopolitan.

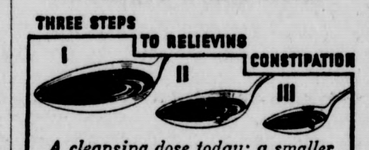
DOCTORS KNOW

Mothers read this:



A cleansing dose today; a smaller quantity tomorrow; less each time, until bowels need no help at all.

Why do people come home from a hospital with bowels working like a well-regulated watch?

The answer is simple, and it's the answer to all your bowel worries if you will only realize it: many doctors and hospitals use liquid laxatives.

If you knew what a doctor knows, you would use only the liquid form. A liquid can always be taken in gradually reduced doses. Reduced dosage is the secret of any real relief from constipation.

Ask a doctor about this. Ask your druggist how very popular liquid laxatives have become. They give the right kind of help, and right amount of help. The liquid laxative generally used is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It contains senna and cascara — both natural laxatives that can form no habit, even in children. So, try Syrup Pepsin. You just take regulated doses till Nature restores regularity.

NEW MEDICAL TERMS BOOM

Pity the poor doctor who tries to keep up with the rapid advances in medical science. The field has enlarged to such an extent that the dictionary which makes its literature available embraces 1,573 pages. The new edition has added more than 5,000 words which have been created by research workers during the past few years since the previous edition was issued. Here are a few samples of the synthesized names of new things and conditions which the biologists and medical scientists have discovered recently: acalcerosis, acarbia, adiaphoria, adiposalgia, aerogram, agonadal, allobiosis, allometron, alvinolith, anatopism, angiolysin, aniseikonia, anisergy, apeidosis, auxin and axoneme. The other alphabetical divisions contain equally as impressive recruits.

NO ALKALIES FOR ACID INDIGESTION

MILLIONS have found they do not need to drench their stomachs with strong, caustic alkalies. Physicians have said this habit often brings further acid indigestion. So much more safe and sensible to simply carry a roll of Tums in your pocket. Munch 3 or 4 after meals—or whenever troubled by heartburn, gas, sour stomach. Try them when you feel the effects of last night's party, or when you smoke too much. Tums contain a wonderful antacid which neutralizes acid in the stomach, but never overalkalizes stomach or blood. FIVE SUPERVISORS MUST CONTEST AT COUNTY ELECTION

Next August promises to become one of the most lively county elections in San Mateo County for many years, for according to the attorney general's office, Supervisors High and Beer will have to go before the electorate the same as Supervisors Witt, Poole and Francis, whose term of office expires next year.

According to the attorney general's office the special act, past by the State Legislature, providing for continuance in office for their full four year term, of Beer and High was unconstitutional.

It is pointed out that the constitution provided a gubernatorial appointment was good only until the next general election, and holds that a legislative act can not amend the constitution. The reported opinion from the attorney general's office is said to have ruled that all supervisors who received the gubernatorial appointments last year, as did High and Beer, must seek re-election at the primary next year, if they desire to continue in office.

To provide added interest, it must be considered that the next county supervisorial election will be an election at large. In other words, all the voters throughout the county will have an opportunity to vote for the five supervisorial candidates, regardless of the Township they are representing, this is mandatory under the new county charter.

HONOR GUEST AT HALLOWE'EN PARTY

Mrs. R. Renny, of Peoria street entertained a group of friends at a Hallowe'en House Party, last Saturday evening. honoring Mrs. Dolly Roberts of Winchester street on her birthday.

The table was artistically decorated with typical Hallowe'en colors. A witches booth where fortunes were told by Mrs. N. Higgins was a center of interest. A pleasant evening was spent playing cards.

Among those present were Mesdames Dolly Roberts, Helen Grantham, Mabel McNally, Helen Peck, Bertha McCarthy, Etta Mehan, Mazie Bovle, Lottie Lupton and N. Higgins and Mr. and Mrs. Torrence, Mr. and Mrs. Renny, Mr. and Mrs. Reed of San Jose, and Louis Lupton.

California has more motor vehicles registered than the republics of France and Germany combined.

FIREMEN HOLD ANNUAL BANQUET

Jefferson Hall was the scene of the Colma Veteran Firemen's Association banquet, Saturday evening of last week. The attendance of 75 included invited guests and Company No. 6 of the Daly City Fire Department.

Chief M. Balestra acted as master of ceremonies, with Superior Judge Maxwell McNutt, Chief A. P. Chesney and Mr. Christie of the Rio Grande Oil Company as the principal speakers. Others made a number of interesting remarks in regard to fire prevention.

The cup which was won recently by the department's tug of war team was on display during the banquet.

DALY CITY TANFORAN WILL PLAY ACME BEER

Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock the Daly City Tanforan ball club will clash with the Acme Beer team.

This will be the third game of the AA Leagne schedule. Our team won the first two starts.

The game will be played on the Harrison diamond at Seventh and Harrison streets.

CARBURETOR MIXTURE

Too lean or too rich a carburetor mixture is easily identified by certain effects.

If too lean, symtoms will be hard starting, back-firing when the throttle is opened suddenly, and failure of the motor to idle properly. If too rich, the motor will operate unevenly, due to excess fuel; spark plugs will fould quickly; and exhaust gases will cause a burning sensation when coming in contact with the eyes.

Distribute Highway Code

Ignorance of the law will no longer be an excuse for offending drivers in England.

The Ministry of Transport in that country recently distributed about twelve million copies of the highway code among householders. A broadcasting van is now making a tour of the country to popularize the code.

Check Shock Absorbers

Shock absorbers should be checked at regular intervals and serviced when necessary.

They not only control riding qualities but they also control steering. When out of order they cause the car to shimmy or wander on the road and make driving difficult and tedious.

BETTER STOP WHEN BEE GETS IN CAR

The little bee has caused many serious acidents by distracting motorists to the point of losing control of their cars.

If you find yourself in the way of a bee, it is wise to stop the car and then deal with the insect.

DISTRIBUTOR REPAIR

Short circuits occasionally are caused by a distributor cap cracking and allowing the current that is passing through it to jump from one contact point to another.

If a new cap is not available temporary repairs can be made by enlarging the cracks by scraping with a knife blade and filling them with ordinary sealing wax. The cap should be replaced with a new one as soon as possible.

The local merchant can increase his business and keep purchases at home by advertising in The Record.

PIONEER WOMAN PASSES BEYOND

The Angel of death entered the home of Mrs. Josephine Porter Edwards of Evergreen avenue Monday evening of this week, taking the aged pioneer to her eternal home.

Mrs. Edwards, 88, who had made her home in Daly City for many years was a native of Dickson, Ill. She was the widow of the late Benjamin F. Edwards.

Three children Frank Porter, Florence Kelley and Leslie Edwards survive her; also a sister Mrs. W. A. Porter.

Funeral services were conducted from her late residence, Wednesday afternoon of this week. Interment took place at Olivet Columbarium.

The letters I, O and Q are not used on California motor vehicle registration number plates because of their similarity with numerals.

NOVEMBER INDIAN SUMMER MONTH

"Gratitude is the finest blossom that springs from the soul; and the heart of man knoweth none more fragrant."—Ballou.

Autumn is over and winter has not yet begun. The Anglo Saxons, who had a way of naming things simply and picturesquely, called November, the "wind month" or the "bloom month," the latter name probably having reference to the killing of animals for the winter supply of meats. In the temperate zones, the mystical days of Indian summer may be grouped as one of the most delightful of the whole year. But the outstanding feature of this otherwise barren months is Thanksgiving Day, looked forward to by old and young. This is an occasion for family reunions, a time to recount all happiness and blessings of the year, for who is there among us too poor or too unhappy to find in his heart at least one spark of gratitude.

The very least that we all owe in this world is gratitude for our lives. Nowhere has that gratitude been more truly and simply expressed than in this poem by a boy, Richard Molesworth Dennis, who was killed in the World War.

"God's gifts so many a pleasure bring
That I will make a Thanksgiving.

For eyes whereby I clearly see
The many lovely things there be;

For Tongue to taste the fruits that grow,
For birds that sing and flowers that blow;

For limbs to climb and swim and run,
And skin to feel the cheerful sun;

For sun and moon and stars in heaven,
Whose gracious light is freely given;

The river where the green weed floats,
And where I sail my little boats;

The sea where I can bathe and play
The sands, where I can race all day

The pigeons wheeling in the sun.
Who fly more quick than I can run;

The winds that sing as they rush by,
The clouds that race across the sky;

The pony that I sometimes ride,
The curly dog that runs beside;

The shelter of the shady woods,
Where I may spend my lonely mools;

The gabled house that is my home,
The garden where I love to roam.

And bless my parents every day,
Though they be very far away.

Take Thou my thanks O God above,
For all these tokens of Thy love.

And when I am a man do Thou
Make me as grateful then as now."

COUNCIL MOVES TO REPEAL MOOT "BINGO" PERMIT

were again operated corrective apparatus will be installed. The city attorney was instructed to institute abatement proceedings at once.

The council asked for a letter from the Daly City Merchants Association, requesting submission of an anti handbill ordinance to the people at the next city election.

Mayor Smith suggested mimeographing of a list containing names and addresses of all city water users. This list to be corrected every three months. A representative of The Record stated these could probably be furnished free in printed form.

The matter of appointment of a plumbing inspector was laid over.

City Attorney J. E. McCurdy, in reporting on the legality or illegality of the "Bingo" ordinance, quoted District Attorney Ferrell as stating that "Bingo" "as operated at Bayshore is illegal. However, he gave no opinion of his own regarding this matter. The Bayshore place was closed some time ago by county authorities and its operators are now facing trial in justice court for operating a gambling place.

Councilman Selmi moved the city attorney be instructed to prepare an ordinance for repeal of the existing "Bingo" ordinance. By unanimous vote the council so instructed.

Thereupon "Colonel" Berger, self styled promoter of the Bayshore "Bingo" establishment, and who said he was to be manager of the Daly City resort, again harangued the audience and the council. He said "You can't do that," and intimated members of the council were laying themselves liable to dire consequences if the "Bingo" ordinance is repealed and the permit revoked. He declared such action would be a rank injustice and disastrous—to whom he did not state.

Councilman Fahy asked the city attorney if the permit could be revoked. That official said he "could not say offhand," and would need time to study the matter before rendering an opinion.

The council will meet in regular session on Monday evening, November 11, when this matter will be taken up again.

The General Pershing P. T. A. will hold a Fathers Night, Tuesday evening. November 5, at the General Pershing School on Hanover street.

Francis Robnison, San Mateo County probation officer, is scheduled to speak. Judge Wade H. Clay will also make an address.

There will be a program by the children and refreshments will follow.

COLMA VOLUNTEER FIRE DEPARTMENT ENJOYS BANQUET

The Colma Volunteer Fire Department gave their annual banquet and initiation, Saturday evening, in their hall in Colma.

Chief Mario Balestei was toastmaster and welcomed the members and their guests, amounting to eighty-five all told.

Amongst those called upon to speak was Judge Maxwell McNutt, superior judge of San Mateo County; Chief Andy Chesney of the Daly City Fire Department; William Sweeny, school trustee of the Jefferson School District; Superintendent Crane of the elementary school district department; Judge Davis of South San Francisco; Judge Clay of Daly City, and numerous others.

The banquet was prepared by the well known chef, Pete Valenti, assisted by Chief Conserva and other members of the Colma Fire Department, and it must have been prepared right, the way platter after platter of the food disappeared.

After the banquet a young Colma man, who wanted to be a fireman, was initiated and the way he took it he should make a first class fireman.
